Council Holds Regular Meeting

A delegation of over 15 residents attended Coleman council May 23 to express concern over the reported problem of speeding and reckless driving of cars and motorcycles throughout the town and on the main street of West Coleman.

The complaint came as the result of a motorcycle-bicycle accident in West Coleman on May 22 when three Coleman boys were injured—one seriously.

A lengthy discussion was held to attempt to find a solution to the problem and the citizens requested that the alley parallel to the railway tracks in West Coleman be closed to through traffic, that playground signs be set up to regulate speed. It was also requested that RCMP police use every available method, including the use of ghost cars, to apprehend the offenders.

Sgt. Garnett Walker, in charge of the Blairmore detachment of the RCMP, was present.

It was pointed out that police patrols regularly patrol the town but it is impossible for the police to be on the spot when the trouble arises. By the time a phone call is made to the police and the police immediately drive to the area of the report, the offenders have already gotten away.

It was recommended that in order to effectively control the speeding and reckless driving that citizens should give their co-operation to police to point out the offenders so that effective action can be taken.

As a result of the mutually satisfactory discussion, a directive is to be drawn up and published to inform the citizens how they can aid the RCMP to effectively control the complaints.

A motion was made by council that the alley in West Coleman be closed, signs will be erected and council will do whatever is possible to enlist the aid of the citizens to co-operate with police.

A general town clean-up campaign will be held during the first two weeks in June, and the town will provide trucks to haul away litter and rubbish.

Council approved a grant of $100 for the fire brigade to help defray expenses in travelling to various hose coupling competitions. The local hose coupling events will be held on July 1st.

Socreds Returned in Pincher Creek-Crowsnest Constituency--Drain Elected

CHARLES DRAIN

Incumbent Garth Turcott of the NDP was defeated by Charles Drain of Social Credit in voting Tuesday, May 23rd.

Mr. Turcott was the first NDP member ever elected to the Alberta legislature in a by-election last October. However, his term did not last long and none of the members of his party were elected Tuesday. Both Conservative Alex Wells and Liberal Benton Murphy were far behind.

Three Injured In West Coleman Accident

A Coleman youth, 18-year-old Bernard Syryca, and two Coleman boys were taken to Crows Nest Pass Municipal Hospital with injuries sustained in a motorcycle-bicycle accident Monday morning in West Coleman.

In serious condition is Wesley Yeliga, 10, with a possible skull fracture, concussion, cuts and abrasions.

Hospital officials said that the boy was unconscious until 8 p.m. Monday and is still in semi-conscious condition.

Wesley was a passenger on a bike driven by Ron MacDonald, 8, who suffered lacerations and bruises.

Driver of the motorcycle, Syryca was treated for a fractured wrist, cuts and lacerations and released from hospital.

Yeliga has been transferred to a Calgary hospital for treatment. MacDonald was released from Crows Nest Pass Municipal Hospital May 24.

Robert Mitchell Passed Away

Word was received that Mr. Robert (Bob) Mitchell, a former Coleman old time resident for many years, passed away in Pincher Creek on Sunday, May 28. Funeral services were held in Pincher Creek on Tuesday, May 30. Further details will be published in our next issue.

Centennial Signs Draw Comment

Two very attractive Centennial signs have been erected on the number three highway in Coleman and are causing much favorable comment from motorists and visitors to the area.

One of the signs has been erected by Jim Atkinson in his front yard on Fourth street, facing the highway, and when lit at night features many colored electric lights. Mr. Atkinson also designed the larger sign for the town of Coleman, that has been erected near the entrance to the Horace Allen school. This sign, also electrically lighted, is considerably larger than the other. Material and labor for the town sign was provided by the town.

Lad Injured In Shooting Accident

Brent Michalski, 17-year-old Coleman youth, is making good progress in Crows Nest Pass Municipal Hospital after being shot in the hip by a .22 calibre rifle.

Michalski, out shooting gophers with friends Bill Iwasiw and Robert Conin, was struck in the hip by a ricocheting bullet, fired by Conin. The bullet lodged deep in the flesh near Michalski's spine, and on the advice of a specialist the bullet will not be removed. Michalski is in good condition and will be released in two or three days.

Blood Clinic Reaches Quota

Mrs. Anna Fabro, general chairman of the Crows Nest Pass Blood Transfusion Service, reported that the recent clinic held in Blairmore had been very successful.

A total of 147 pints of blood were gathered with the quota having been set at 150.

A vote of thanks is extended to all who donated. During the event a number of 20 pint donor certificates were presented by Mrs. Fabro.

Unidentified Flying Object Sighted Here

A number of Coleman residents report having sighted an unidentified flying object in the skies over Saskatoon Mountain, north of Coleman.

The residents who spotted the possible "flying saucer" saw the object on Saturday evening, May 20 between 10:30 and 11:30 p.m., and again on Sunday and Monday nights around the same time.

The "UFO" at first appeared to be a bright star that moved from Saskatoon Mountain west towards Window Mountain, and then disappeared.

Interviews with several of the persons who looked at the hat-shaped object, confirm that the object seemed to be a saucer with a loaf- or dome-like structure sitting in the saucer. The edge of the saucer protruded out beyond the loaf-like top and was ringed with red and green lights. Every once in a while a vertical shaft appeared to come down out of the bottom of the saucer and this shaft seemed to be a bright white light. The object appeared to remain absolutely still, and then would roll and appear to rock.

Reports also indicate that horses and dogs, owned by persons in the area, appeared to be very nervous over something during the time that the "UFO" was spotted.

Golf Club Elect Officers

Cam Kovach was elected president of the Crows Nest Pass Golf and Country Club at a recent meeting held in the club house.

To assist President Kovach in her duties the following slate was elected:

Sec'y-Treasurer, Thelma Chrysalis; Captain, Mrs. Anne Raymond; Vice-captain, Mrs. Bert Drew.

Mrs. Audrey Forsay will be in charge of Handicaps and the Entertainment Committee will comprise Mrs. Anne Raymond and Mrs. Vi Gillis.

It was announced that a bake sale will be sponsored by the Club to be held in Simpsons-Sears Mail Order office on Saturday, June 3rd.

Rivers Rising in Crowsnest Pass

A week-end of warm, sunny weather has swollen rivers and streams in the Crows Nest Pass district to an almost flood level.

Sunday evening, May 21st, town foreman Hector Provitor, kept a wary eye on Nez Perce Creek, running through the central part of town, and on several occasions had to clear debris out of the swollen creek to prevent it from damming up and flooding several parts of town.

In Blairmore town foreman John Gibos was called out Monday to sandbag an area along the Crows Nest River in North Blairmore where several homes were becoming alarmed at the high water.

Reports indicate that the water level at Riverbottom Bellevue is becoming very high and several barns and buildings near Crows Nest River are being touched by the swollen river.

A number of West Coleman and East Coleman homes are reporting flooded basements and some yards in West Coleman are soggy due to the high water table level in that area.

Ron Knight of Lethbridge Department of Water Resources, visited the Crows Nest Pass district last week to look over the condition of river channels and river banks.

A number of gravel bars have developed in the Crows Nest River in the Blairmore district during the past few years and water in these areas is rising to a high point.

Rivers and streams in the district have only begun to rise in the last few days and with June being the high water season in this area, residents are concerned that a flood will occur if warm weather hits the area.

The heavy accumulation of snow in the mountains surrounding the Crows Nest Pass has not yet started to melt.

Fish and Game Hold Work Bee

A very successful work bee was held by the Coleman Fish and Game Association recently when approximately 20 of the club members and interested persons travelled to the club's new project dam site.

Workers travelled by snowmobiles to the site northwest of Coleman where the club is clearing a site of land that will be used for a dam. When completed the dam will provide another excellent fishing site similar to Allison Creek Dam that was built by the Coleman Fish and Game Association several years ago and has developed into a very popular fishing grounds for sportsmen from all over southern Alberta.

Good progress was made during the last work bee and much of the brush and trees were cut and cleared from the land. It is estimated that another four or five trips to the site will see the low-lying area cleared of brush and ready for damming.

A small unnamed fresh water creek will keep the reservoir filled once it is dammed. On completion of the dam the fisheries branch will be contacted for planting of fingerling trout and before too long fishermen will have another excellent fishing spot.

The Association has expressed thanks to all who provided snowmobiles for transportation, and to those who turned out with power saws and other equipment to make the work bee successful. Coffee and doughnuts were served by the club.

Coleman Reaches Quota

The Coleman area was the third town to reach its quota in the current drive for funds, sponsored by the Cancer Society.

Under the capable direction of Jim Montalbeti, the group reached its objective.

NEW SYMBOL

Alberta's Provincial Parks Division has adopted a new symbol announced the Hon. H. A. Ruste, Minister, Department of Lands and Forests, today.

The circular symbol will be used on all park entrance signs, equipment, buildings, and, in addition, an embroidered shoulder-patch will be worn by park staff on their uniforms. Multi-colored, the symbol depicts the great outdoors — clear sky, sun, water, trees and the seeds of new growth. The circle represents the life cycle. The new symbol, presently being copyrighted, will be phased into use during the coming year.

Harry Storey Passes At Trail, B. C.

Robert John (Harry) Storey, 60, of 1437 Main St., died in Trail-Tadnac Hospital, Tuesday, May 9, after a lengthy illness.

Born December 25, 1906, in Orangeville, Ont., he served with the Military Police in the RCAF during the Second World War.

After demobilization he spent a year building war time houses in Rossland.

He was a member of the Knox United Church, Pincher Creek, Alberta, and well known as a boat builder and coin collector.

Mr. Storey is survived by his wife, Mary; his children, Roberta, 10 years old; Jackie, Bobby and Elsie; his brothers, Reeves of Trail and Bert of Pincher Creek; his sisters, Mrs. Noble (Emma) Craig and Mrs. Archie (Beatty) Gamble of Pincher Creek and six grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted in Knox United Church, Trail, Friday at 1:30 p.m. by Rev. S. H. Cassels.

Interment was in the Mountain View cemetery.

Carberry's Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements. (Mr. Storey will be well remembered in the Pass, as he operated cabins for several years at Frank and was delivery man for Eaton's Order House at Blairmore. The sympathy of his many friends here is extended to Mrs. Storey and family).

OF MANY THINGS

(By Ambrose Hills)

Everybody Is a Farmer At Heart

From the number of visitors we have, and the amount of mail that reaches me on account of this column I have become convinced that everybody is a farmer at heart. Because I started out by admitting I was a greenhorn, I get carloads of advice from experts, and even more from men and women who've never farmed but feel sure they could succeed at it. I listen carefully to it all, and if I were to farm 25 per cent as well as I know how to, Greenhorn Farm would soon be the pride of the Fraser Valley.

At present, I am farming about five per cent as well as I could if I had time and energy to follow all advice from books and people. The beans and peas could do with a deris dusting, the barn needs a cleaning, there is a patch of ragweed I should get rid of, and about 20 square yards of soil I must treat Calcium cyanamid, when I can find a garden store that stocks it. (Calcium cyanamid, according to the books, kills all growth and then in a matter of a month or so, changes into an excellent nitrogen-lime fertilizer. I would sure appreciate hearing from any farmer who has tried it, or any manufacturer or wholesaler who sells it).

But this is the loveliest time of the year, and everything is bursting with new growth, and I am dawdling a lot, down in the back pasture where the creek is noisy and swollen and beautiful. Birds are nesting everywhere, and young rabbits and hares are playing games about the place. I make a daily inspection tour to see and delight in it all, but so many chores just don't get done and I am behind the season. Nature has animated everything but me. The only time I get a bit animated is when someone points out casually that "There's a patch of weeds that's going to get ahead of you if you don't watch out."

Sometimes I reply, "You're right . . . Wouldn't it be fun for you and me to tackle it together this very minute!" But mostly I just nod and say, "Must wait until the fourth leaf comes, you know; then you get a cleaner kill." It's bosh, but they're greenhorns, too, and swallow it all easily--and the weeds grow merrily along.

The libraries are full of books on how to farm and I believe I have read them all. Now that I know what to do and how to do it, I wish to heck I had the energy to go and do it. Anyone with advice on that score can win my undivided attention any time at all!

Modern Auto Tire Not Just Windbag

Too many motorists take their car's tires for granted, yet they are one of the most vital pieces of automotive equipment, claims the Canadian Highway Safety Council.

Motorists fail to realize, said the Council, that a tire is much more than a rubber bag filled with air. It's a finely engineered piece of equipment, constantly being improved for the safety and comfort of the motorist, but it must be as strictly maintained as any other piece of equipment.

A tire has three basic parts--the beads, which anchor the tire to the rim; the carcass, which contains the air that supports the vehicle, and the tread, which is in constant contact with the road. Each of these major tire parts can suffer from neglect and misuse. When even one of them is allowed to deteriorate to the point of failure, the life of the driver and the lives of his passengers are threatened.

Proper inflation, said CHSC, is the most important maintenance factor. The Council cites the Rubber Association of Canada as warning that over-inflation and under-inflation can promote tire damage and imperil car occupants.

The Council strongly urged close adherence to inflation instructions provided with each vehicle. Strict attention to proper inflation will add considerable length to a tire's life and a great deal of weight to a tire's ability to protect driver and passengers and add to their driving comfort.

New Alberta Red Cross Film

After years of heart-broken, hopeless separation, a family is reunited at the Edmonton International Airport. This is only one of the factual scenes in the new Red Cross film, "No Red Tape".

The color film, with sound, was produced by the Alberta Division of the Canadian Red Cross Society and shows its services in action, from the Peace River country to the southern border of Alberta. The actors are all local people involved, from those in Disaster Service, Blood Donor programs, Swimming and Water Safety to the school members in Red Cross Youth carrying out their community projects, and meeting calls for assistance, immediately and with no red tape.

It is a film of interest to both young and old and one that will "fill the bill" at a meeting of any organization with its heart-warming story of the vital selfless service given by Alberta volunteers through their Red Cross.

To Publish History On Armed Forces

As one of the observances of Centennial Year the Department of National Defence is publishing a 270-page history, The Armed Forces of Canada, 1867-1967, which will be available late this spring.

For the first time, the story of Canada's Navy, Army and Air Force from the year of Confederation to the present day is told in a single book, designed to appeal to a wide readership.

Edited by Lt.-Col. D. J. Goodspeed, senior historian of the Canadian Forces' directorate of history at Ottawa, the new book contains 250 photographs, including 35 in color, some of which are reproductions of paintings in the National Gallery of Canada.

As an introduction, the military history of Canada is outlined from its earliest beginnings — armed encounters with the Iroquois, the Anglo-French struggle for North America, the defence of Quebec in the American War of Independence, the War of 1812 and the Fenian Raids.

Most of the book deals with the period after Confederation—with the two Red River Expeditions, the Nile Voyagers, the South African War, the First and Second World Wars and the Korean War, as well as the changing scene during the periods of peace.

Separate chapters are devoted to the development of the Canadian Armed Forces in the nuclear era that has prevailed since 1945, and to Canada's part in peace-keeping operations around the world.

Letter To The Editor

L. Eric Hansen,
P. O. Box 943,
Medicine Hat, Alta.,
April 17, 1967.

The Editor,
The Coleman Journal,
Coleman, Alberta.

Dear Sir:

To celebrate Canada's Centennial Year, we are planning a very special four-day historical trail ride, August 10 to the 13, which may be of interest to you.

This Interprovincial Centennial Historical Trail Ride will be a 160 mile "Cross-Country" ride from Eastend, Sask., via both Cypress Hills Provincial Parks to the Medicine Hat Centennial Corn Festival. It will be a Competitive Endurance Trail Ride, the daily distance will be 40 miles, and it will be a judged event, with riders being judged on horsemanship and the condition of their horse, and with special trophies being awarded to the winners of the various classes and the different age groups. A large entry is expected and we are therefore planning on having three qualified Trail Ride Judges along for the full ride.

This ride will traverse the entire length of the Cypress Hills, and I am enclosing "Trail Ride To Yesterday", which is a historical summary of some of the points of interest along the route.

A special guest will be Canadian folk singer and television personality, Ian Tyson, who has accepted an invitation to participate in the complete ride.

Tom Primrose, a well known Alberta writer, horseman and regular columnist with the Calgary Albertan, has also accepted an invitation to go on the ride as the Historian - Photographer, to document the entire ride in written and film form.

This ride will be based along the same lines as all my previous long-distance competitive endurance trail rides, and I might add, that we are not planning on charging any entry fee, as this ride is being sponsored by the Medicine Hat Sportsmen's Club, and that Group entries, Horse Breeds' Associations, Riding Clubs, Family or Individual Adult entries, are all most welcome.

I would like to extend a very cordial invitation to horsemen in your area, to take this opportunity to visit the Cypress Hills country and at the same time participate in a very special and historically significant trail ride which is being organized to celebrate Canada's Centennial Year.

Yours very truly,

L. Eric Hansen,
Director Horsemanship
Activities.

A WEEKLY LOOK AT EXPO '67

(By Tracy S. Ludington)

Here is a column of facts about Expo — facts that answer many of the questions being asked by students who are writing to this column, because they are gathering material for an essay about Expo — participating in one of the myriad Cross-Canada contests about Expo.

Since many are entering the same contests, the queries have been fairly standard, and it is possible to answer many of them here today.

Expo is a joint undertaking of the City of Montreal, the Province of Quebec, and the Canadian government.

Twenty-five million tons of fill were employed in forming the magnificent site in the mighty

St. Lawrence River.

According to surveys, ten million visitors will make a total of 35,000,000 visits to the 1967 World Exhibition.

The central theme is Man and His World.

Says Pierre Dupuy — Expo's Commissioner-General: "The main object is to present a true picture of human achievement."

Says Robert F. Shaw, deputy commissioner-general: "Expo '67 will show the best of the world to Canada, and the best of Canada to the world."

First pavilion completed was the $9,900,000 International Broadcast Centre.

Letters asking about accommodation at Expo should be addressed to Lodgexpo, Administration &

News Pavilion, Expo '67, Cite du Havre (Mackay Pier) Montreal.

Letters asking about special tours for special groups should be addressed to Expo Rendezvous, at the above address.

While a great many of the letters to this column have been answered already, there is always a lag, and if you haven't received your special answer yet — you will.

Keep reading, keep writing — Expo will be here before you know it.

(Address correspondence to Tracy S. Ludington, Expo '67, at 7005 Killdare Road, Montreal 29).

Local Witnesses Protest Persecution Portugal Members

John E. Jones, presiding minister of the Coleman Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses, reported that the 20 members assembled for the weekly ministry school session at the Kingdom Hall unanimously approved a public protest of the persecution of Jehovah's Witnesses in Portugal.

The expression of the congregation followed a report on recent developments in Portugal in an appeal of the Witnesses to the Supreme Court of that land.

Mr. Jones told the local congregation that the Supreme Court of Portugal had, on February 22 this year, upheld the conviction of 49 Portuguese Witnesses arrested in June of 1965 for attending a Bible meeting. They make up the entire adult membership of the Feijo congregation. Police invaded a private home there and broke up religious services.

You will be shocked," he told the local group, "to hear that these Christians were charged by the Plenary Court of Lisbon with being guilty of a crime against the security of the state." It was ridiculous, he added, for anyone to think of these harmless Christians as a security risk. He explained, "It is most interesting that the prosecution produced no witnesses to back up the charges and no evidence to show guilt at any time during the three-day trial. Hence it was unreasonable for the Supreme Court to uphold these convictions." He claimed that the Portuguese press, significantly, had not reported the Court's decision to the public.

"Even more shocking," the congregation was told, "will be the results for the families involved. Thirty-five of those convicted are women who will be taken away from their families. Two of the women are expectant mothers. Their babies will be born in prison."

Terms from one and a half to five and a half months have been set for 39 of those convicted. Ten were given suspended sentences. All 49 were fined from $47 to $170 and must pay court costs of $35 each.

The hope was expressed that public awareness of the treatment of a minority religious group in Portugal might yet bring relief to the Witnesses there.

Bellevue Man Dies in Motorbike Mishap

William Edward Goodwin of Bellevue, age 24 years, passed away in Crows Nest Pass Municipal Hospital May 18, 1967, from injuries he sustained on May 17 in a motorbike mishap just west of Bellevue.

Goodwin's motorbike went off the highway three on a curve near the Bellevue municipal building and he struck several guard rail poles.

He was born in Eden on December 9, 1942, and attended school in Bellevue and Coleman and at the time of his death was employed as a miner by the Vianey Mine.

He married the former Judy Ann Cartwright in Blairmore in October of 1962.

He served in the Canadian army for six years and served in Egypt and Canada. He was a member of the Coleman Local UMW, Hillcrest Miners' Club and a former member of the Wainwright Moose Lodge.

He was predeceased by his mother, Mrs. William (Margaret) Goodwin, May 5th.

Besides his wife Judy Ann, he is survived by a son Trent and his father, William, all of Bellevue, and a sister Claire in Calgary.

Funeral services were conducted from St. Luke's Anglican Church in Blairmore at 2 p.m. on Saturday, May 20, with Rev. Clarence Babcock officiating. Interment in the family plot, Blairmore Union cemetery. Fantin's Chapels Ltd. was in charge.

Prizes To Be Given For Fire Essays

(By A. E. Bridges, Alberta Fire Commissioner)

This may be repeat news but still a reminder to the children of Alberta about the National Centennial Fire History Contest is timely since there is only six weeks to go until the closing date for entries.

Children have good reason to be interested in fire fighters. Fire fighters have a brave tradition, and a most colorful record of community service. Now it is true that children may already know about the contest from their school teacher; however, we think that parents could best encourage their children to write an essay to compete for the valuable prize—that is, if parents are informed about the contest.

Therefore it is suggested that parents be reminded by a notice in the local newspaper or by radio coverage. We, therefore, attach a circular handbill containing full details of the contest for inclusion in a local newspaper or for radio announcements. Perhaps newspapers could find a sponsor in the local community to provide space for the entire handbill announcement.

This would be best to be sure that all details are included.

Fire departments welcome inquiries from children and many departments have gone to great lengths to compile the history of their fire department which would be very necessary background information for the essay. "What children learn about fire protection in preparing for this essay could serve them well in years to come," says A. E. Bridges, Fire Commissioner.

In Alberta's Rocky Mountain park areas, there are 31 peaks that rise to altitudes above 11,000 feet.

Since June - the traditional "month of brides" is coming up, here's some information for those who are planning their first homes and choosing dinnerware, etc., for them.

China is a term often used to refer to any type of dinnerware. Actually china is only one type of dinnerware. Others are semi-porcelain and earthenware. The differences are due chiefly to the clay used and the method of firing.

China is technically a porcelain. That is a type of ware whose clays are melted during firing. This process results in a translucency. This is apparent when you hold a piece of china up to the light and you see the shadow of your hand. China is also non-porous, hard to chip and resistant to blows. Even with its thin, fragile look, china is the strongest of all dinnerwares.

There are various kinds of china—English bone china is so named because bone ash is added to the clay. Also, a special white clay from Cornwall is used. This type of china has increased translucency and strength, as well as a milky whiteness. Place settings in china may range in price from under $15 to about $100.

Semi-porcelain is less expensive than china. It is a soft-bodied ware with a porcelain covering and glaze. Much of the moderately priced dinnerware is of this type. It is not as strong as china and cracks or chips fairly easily.

Earthenware is also a widely used type of dinnerware. It is less expensive than china or semi-porcelain and is often used for everyday. The better known manufacturers have place settings in earthenware from about $5 to $20.

Made of softer clay it is opaque and heavy. Since it is porous it cracks and chips easily and then absorbs grease and stains.

Stoneware is a type of earthenware often found in jars, jugs and pots such as Dutch Ovens. However, lately it has been appearing in dinner sets such as Ironstone or Stoneware—It is a hard more or less earthenware which has been fired at a high temperature. This produces a strong, serviceable, non-porous dish.

All of these types of dinnerware are made of clay and are glazed. Color decoration may be applied before the glaze. This is called underglaze. It is considered more durable than overglaze which is decoration applied after the glaze. All decorations add to the production costs. Gold or platinum trim on bone china is the most expensive.

Be realistic when you choose your dinnerware. Choose according to your style of living. If you are the back yard barbecue type, your fine china may just gather dust. A young couple on a budget may make much better use of semi-porcelain, than they would of bone china. If you can afford it two or even three types will suit your every need and add lots of variety.

Place a lot of thought into selecting your pattern. If you are the casual type a simple pattern would reflect your type of living. The more elaborate patterns are usually associated with a formal way of entertaining. Very plain dinnerware may create some problems if you a flair with accessories. You may find it easier to use a simple table cover and decorations, and let your dinnerware pattern add color and interest.

But keep in mind that elaborate patterns will always limit you in your choice of linens, silver and table decorations.

Buy only the pieces that are right for you. Place settings consist of a dinner plate, a tea or salad plate, bread and butter plate, cup and saucer. You may feel a salad plate will be of no use to you. It would be wiser then to buy separate pieces. This is especially true if your dinnerware is going to mean a large investment.

Look at all the pieces in a pattern before you buy. Maybe you are not in the market for a gravy boat at the moment, but you might be in the future. Before you start buying you should make sure what is available in a pattern, and that you like all the pieces.
